"Voice of Vietnam" Coverage

FOIAB3B1

1. As is already known to the [redacted] the North Vietnamese "Voice of Vietnam" last month inaugurated broadcasts in Cambodian and Laotian. While these language transmissions appear to fill a normal need of the Viet Minh for informing and propagandizing audiences in the respective areas, there is a very high level of interest in the content of these particular transmissions, even though they may seem repetitions of other transmissions, because of the possibility that they are used for communicating instructions on the party line and courses of action to the Cambodian and Laotian cadres. For this reason it is requested that the closest attention be given the processing of coverage in these two language transmissions with a view toward supplying copy which may give any insight into Cambodian and Laotian cadre instructions. This information may be concealed in broadcast material or it may be communicated overtly.

2. Care should be exercised to confine knowledge among necessary classified personnel.
